November 3, 2015, Las Vegas, Nevada - The Mopar brand and the Jeep® Wrangler continue to form a sizzling combination at the Specialty Equipment Market Association (SEMA) trade show, with the most accessorized vehicle by Mopar earning the SEMA "Hottest 4x4-SUV" award for the sixth consecutive year.

The award recognizes the 4x4-SUV chosen by specialty equipment manufacturers as the ultimate canvas for showcasing aftermarket products at the 2015 SEMA Show. Pietro Gorlier, Head of Parts and Service (Mopar), FCA – Global, was presented the "Hottest 4x4-SUV" award by SEMA President and CEO Chris Kersting during the annual SEMA Media breakfast on Tuesday morning at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Jeep Wrangler is by far the most Mopar-modified vehicle, with nearly all Wrangler owners customizing their ride with at least one accessory or part. On average, U.S. customers spend more than $700 in personalizing their Jeep Wrangler vehicle. For those owners who believe that the fun begins when the road ends, Mopar offers aftermarket, factory-produced parts and accessories perfect for tackling the trail.

The 15,345-square-foot Mopar SEMA display features nearly 20 Mopar-modified rides, including a number of customized Jeep vehicles. Mopar parts and accessories for the Jeep Wrangler and additional Jeep vehicles are also among the hundreds of Mopar products being showcased at the premier automotive specialty products trade show, which runs from Nov. 3-6.
