May 27, 2016, Auburn Hills, Mich. - Chrysler officially introduces the brand's adorable, pint-sized product specialists, the PacifiKids, through a new digital and social campaign that features actress Brooklyn Decker (Netflix's "Grace and Frankie") in its inaugural video. The Chrysler PacifiKids – Izzy (age 10), Miles (age 11) and Harper (age 8) – know more about the all-new 2017 Chrysler Pacifica than your average automotive experts. The first in the series of three videos featuring the PacifiKids and Brooklyn Decker, which launched in advance of Memorial Day weekend, can be viewed here. Two more videos will debut in the coming weeks. Who is next on the PacifiKids' list to enlighten about the Chrysler Pacifica? Stay tuned!

"Let's not kid ourselves – we all know that when it comes to innovation and adapting to new technology, children hold a sizeable advantage over adults," said Tim Kuniskis, Head of Passenger Car Brands – Dodge, SRT, Chrysler and FIAT, FCA – North America. "Our new digital and social campaign introducing the PacifiKids playfully acknowledges this fact. First-time mom Brooklyn Decker is the first to be featured in our on-going video series with the PacifiKids to educate and reinforce to parents how and why the all-new 2017 Chrysler Pacifica – which adds 37 minivan firsts for an unprecedented total of 115 innovations to transform the minivan segment – is the perfect automotive tool for the family."

In addition to the digital and social campaign, the PacifiKids will also be making special appearances at family events across the country this summer telling people why the all-new 2017 Chrysler Pacifica is the ultimate family vehicle. The PacifiKids will make their next appearance in Los Angeles during the Super Saturday event.
